Choose us for Quality Assurance

The construction process is a vulnerable measure of several skill and trade sets working together to attain one common goal. Should any single skill set fail in the ability to deliver the desired result then something must also fail and more likely than not the quality of the work will be the first to suffer.

At Quorum Services we will help you keep control of the job site quality and the skill sets that work to deliver the desired result. Our team of professionals has the ability to assist you on site and ensure that critical methods and code compliant measures are taken to maintain conformance with the plan set.

This service will allow your personnel to focus upon the work they must do while we are working to ensure that it is done correctly, to the code and within budget. We will clearly identify any areas of non compliance while providing an objective value added service that you will be proud of.
